The French and European leader, Emmanuel Macron, to perfect as for him, to concentrate on the reinforcement of the 3rd European superpower, by the constitution of a large strategic and powerful pole by "strategic autonomy" in the name of the "fight of Europe", while avoiding adding a crisis to a crisis (that of Ukraine / Russia, deae in the process of disentangling by the European Union) and avoid "an acceleration of the conflagration of the duopoly" China - United States, at the risk of no longer having "the time nor the means to finance" this "strategic autonomy".

"We will become vassals when we can be the third pole if we have a few years to build it", explains Emmanuel Macron, then he adds that "The paradox would be that when we put in place the elements of a real European strategic autonomy, we began to follow American policy, by a kind of panic reflex.
